THE FORTY-

NINERS SEEK A BRIGHT NEW FUTURE

This tale concerns forty-niner boys and girls, who they are, what they did, what they thought, and how they prepared for a bright new future. They consider their high school diplomas a pass to an easier and happier life free from want, filled with security, friends, and interests.

The lure of adventure and the promise of wealth led the forty-niners of the past on that long trek across the country to try their luck at the gold mines. They too, as the teen-agers of today, dreamed of a bright new future.

JOHN J. YOUNG
Superintendent

Dr. Young Terminates First Year

Terminating his first complete year in Mishawaka as superintendent, Dr. John J. Young serves as a wise, competent technical advisor to the school's policy-making group, the Board of School Trustees. An important position of public trust, the office of superintendent necessitates Dr. Young's working with the other administration officials, the faculty, and the students in order to form a smooth-running school system.

At the close of his first year, Dr. Young still remembers the friendly reception tendered him by the people of Mishawaka. Although now an old friend to him, the unfamiliar building greatly impressed the new superintendent as it does most newcomers.

After a thorough study of Mishawaka's educational problems, Dr. Young finds that one which is now particularly pressing in the grade schools will soon concern the high school. This is the increase in enrollment due to the expanding population and the rising birth rate. Although high school enrollment is small now because of the low birth rate of the depression, the number of high school students to come is swinging upward. This points to a need to increase the space for vocational work and to expand the personnel guidance staff. Along with other improvements, these will come with time and money.

With extensive training and experience behind him, Dr. Young is well prepared for his work. His degrees include an A.B., Indiana State Teachers' College, M.A., University of Wisconsin, and Ph.D., New York University.

Finances and Maintenance

The chief duties of Mr. Gerald Neff, who held the new post of Assistant Superintendent, concerned the management of the schools' financial affairs. The payroll and other school expenditures were paid by his office. Club finances underwent his scrutiny since he acted as controller for the Board of Control. Mr. Neff holds a B.S., Manchester College and a M.S., Indiana University.

Improvements and new equipment for M.H.S. were secured through Director of Plant Operation and Maintenance, Mr. Lowell Yaw. New paint jobs, modern tiling on the library floor, and twentieth century desks brightened the school. Mr. Yaw received his training at Indiana State Teachers' College where he earned B.S. and M.S. degrees.

Mr. Myers Coordinates Departments

To capable Principal Russell R. Myers falls the task of coordinating all the departments of Mishawaka High School into a well-functioning organization. It is his responsibility to see that these departments function so that each student, on emerging from high school, will have a well rounded personality. An efficient high school system demands complex work and detailed planning, for example, a master schedule to prevent the conflict of classes. M.H.S. reflects the high standards that Mr. Myers holds for his school as shown by the unqualifiedly approved rating by the North Central Association of Schools.

This same North Central Association launched a wide-spread survey called "Learn to Know Your Community." Participating in the endeavor were the Parent Teachers Association, the social studies department, the faculty, and the Future Teachers of America. Interested in the type of people and the character of their occupations and interests, the committees sought to find out the apparent needs of the community. Questionaires were sent to graduates as well as to students who quit school to determine how the high school had served them best and least in terms of their after-school experience. After the information is compiled by the committees, Mr. Myers and his faculty will have a vast amount of new and useful data. The results will be used to build a better program for the school.

In preparation for his position as principal, Mr. Myers received his A.B. degree from Indiana University and M.A. from the University of Chicago.

Guidance and Discipline

While Miss Lynetta Wilson, Dean of Girls, and Mr. Frank Chapman, Assistant Principal, came in contact with 1500 girls and boys throughout the school year, only a small percentage of these students entered their offices for disciplinary purposes. Instead, the two deans were more interested in eliminating the cause of the trouble before the fireworks occurred than in administering punishment. Students were quick to find a friend in Miss Wilson and Mr. Chapman.

The degrees of Miss Wilson include A.B., Franklin College and M.A., University of Michigan while Mr. Chapman has an A.B., De Pauw University and A.M., Indiana University.

BOARD OF CONTROL

Eighth Year Most Successful

The 1948-49 Student Council tackled more problems and stimulated more enthusiasm among the students than any other council in eight years of student government. Enterprising President Stanley Ross, undertaking such projects as an entire week end of activities for the Central game, directed the fifty-one members throughout the year. Assisting him were Vice President Paul Nieuwland, Secretary Georgia Fulp, and Treasurer Ed Partridge. Miss Lynetta Wilson capably handled the position of advisor.

Student Council-planned pep sessions whooped up the excitement of fans before both football and basketball games. To follow up the games with still further energy-burning entertainment, the Council sponsored dances after four games. Snowmen and icicles gave frosty reminders that the midsemester dance was named the "Snow Ball." To manage these affairs were Pep Sessions Chairman Jackie Spear and Social Chairman Pat Hartman.

The Student Affairs Committee acted early in the year to make students conscious of the why's and wherefore's of locking their lockers. Careless students received a card—sometimes several—saying, "Please lock lockers." The committee mailed the parents of three-time offenders letters warning them about the dangers of thefts. By the close of the year Chairman Walter Schoenegge felt the danger of unlocked lockers had been alleviated. Led by Milton Ross, Chairman of the Building and Grounds Beautification Committee, the Councilers drew up blue prints for new trophy cases to be installed in the gym lobby. The Health and Safety Committee under the chairmanship of Martha Duncan recommended and secured a new rub down table for the athletic squads.

With these outstanding accomplishments behind them, the Student Council may well be proud of their lasting contributions to M.H.S.

The Class of '49 entered Mishawaka High School in the fall after V-J Day with high hopes for a bright new future. The freshmen girls swung along in short pleated skirts and long "Sloppy Joe" sweaters in an effort to look like everyone else; the boys wore their shirt tails out. Afraid of being conspicuous, they begged their mothers not to make them wear their rubbers when the weather forecast was "cloudy with showers."

In the fall of '46 these sophomore know-it-alls eagerly directed the freshmen to their sponsor rooms on the third floor. With a year to explore the building from the greenhouse to the machine shop the class of '49 knew all the angles.

The junior class organized in September, 1947, to elect Dick Miller, president; Chuck Barnard, vice president; Stanley Ross, treasurer; and Rita Snyder, secretary. Miss Ruby Perkins was their class sponsor. In their junior year they presented "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," their first class play, and held a magazine drive to finance the prom and to furnish the conference room as their class gift.

In the fall sophisticated seniors from sponsor rooms 103 and 138 crammed into the busy days dates, football games, and studies—catching a wink of sleep now and then. First they elected their class officers who were football co-captain Tom Roggeman, president; Thespian Chuck Golba, vice president; football quarterback Mike Michele, treasurer; and Alltold news editor Loretta Triest, secretary.

The first recognition of their "seniority" came with the arrival of the long awaited class jewelry in September. At last they had tangible proof that they were no longer freshmen, sophomores, or juniors! However, life as a top dog was not all a pleasure. The first senior headache, a source theme assignment, was due the day before Christmas vacation.

Not being allowed to forget graduation in the near future, the "49ers" were measured for their caps and gowns in the auditorium. In lengthened sponsor periods college representatives from Purdue, Indiana, DePauw, and other universities discussed the different types of colleges.

The seniors returned from a two weeks' Christmas vacation on January 3, determined to settle down and hit the books. For the 33 seniors with enough credits to graduate, the end of the semester meant the end of their high school careers. The other 278 continued to enjoy their last semester at M.H.S.

In May and June activities for seniors-only climaxed the eventful high school days of the forty-niners. The day the senior name cards arrived, a flurry of little white papers descended upon the once uncluttered halls. On May 21, Cap and Gown Day, the prospective graduates wrote their last exams. Between tests seniors flaunted caps and gowns before envious juniors and took snapshots of each other for future reference. The end of the day meant the end of classes for them at M.H.S.

On June 3 the seniors danced with their guests at the Junior-Senior Promenade in the Palais Royale. The following week they attended Baccalaureate and Class Night. In the presence of parents and friends the forty-niners ended a four year career at M.H.S when they received their diplomas at Commencement.

LITTLE WOMEN

TRAGIC EVENT, the loss of little Beth always an invalid grieves the March family even as they rejoice over the birth of Demi and Daisy.

IN SPRING the young men's fancies turn to thoughts of love. In the garden at Plumfield, Professor Bhaer finds courage to ask for Jo's hand, while Laurie wins Amy.

As their last dramatic production, the forty-niners presented Marion DeForest's dramatized version of Louisa May Alcott's famous Little Women. The play is the story of the life and problems of the delightful March family.

The oldest of the four, Meg, was capable, affectionate, and very womanly. A mediator between Jo and Amy, she was calm and extremely feminine.

Straight-forward Jo, who played brother to her three sisters, was intellectual and ambitious for a literary career. She was loved by all in spite of her sharp manner of speaking.

Beth, kind and music loving, was all her pet name, Little Tranquility, suggested. An invalid, her hands were always occupied with sewing or knitting for others.

Charming Amy, the artistic daughter of the March family, was continually bungling the pronunciation of the "vocal'abuary."

The "little women" as their father called them, were portrayed by Georgia Fulp as Meg; Shirley Proudfit as Jo; Jackie Ferretie and Anna Mari Malia as Beth; and Jackie Spear as Amy. Patricia Hartman and Don Petersen played the parts of Marmee and Mr. March. Others in the cast were Sherman Ostrum as Professor Bhaer, Charles Golba as Laurie, Gerald Manuel as John Brooke, Eva Rae Shapiro as Aunt March, Robert Norman as Mr. Laurence, and Martha Duncan as Hannah. Miss Emily K. Davidson, assisted by student coach Doris Pace, directed the production.

QUESTIONING CARLTON in hopes of learning the secret gas formula, the spies were surprised by the appearance of the sheriff from the coffin.

CUCKOOS ON THE HEARTH

The junior class staged as their closs production, Parker W. Fennely's mystery, Cuckoos on the Hearth. The play subtly combined suspense with witty comedy.

Don Carlton, a young inventor, perfected a formula which he was to take to Washington for approval. Informed by Sheriff Prebble of the escape of a lunatic, Don hesitated to leave his bride Charlotte and his cousin Lulu alone. Zadoc Grimes, a partially deaf novelist, arrived just as Don was leaving. Having already written several mystery novels, Zadoc chose "Harmony Hearth" as an ideal spot for concentration. He arrived to find a plot for his new book, Horror at Harmony Hearth, already developing. Three spies disguised as a professor, an evangelist, and a doctor, came to the Hearth in search of the secret gas formula.

Returning home unexpectedly only to be seized by the spies, Don was on the verge of revealing the location of the secret laboratory when Sheriff Prebble emerged from a coffin to set him free and to arrest the captors.

The Pine View Sanitarium escapee disclosed his identity as he attempted to strangle Mrs. Carlton. The lunatic, posing as Sheriff Prebble, had killed the real Mr. and Mrs. Prebble earlier in the evening.

Sharing honors for the production were: Darwin Vance, Mara Geier, Jackie Baugher, Elaine Radecki, Ed Addison, June Wilson, Jim Ganser, Art Greenfield, Jim Smelser, Roscoe Yarbrough, Nina Sue La Place, Reta White, and Joe Heeter. Jeannette Anderson assisted Miss Emily Davidson in the direction.

Class Successful in

Well adjusted to the tempo of life at Mishawaka High School, the Class of 1950 organized for the first time to elect its own officers. Sponsor Merle Blue capably advised Richard Hitchner, president; Milton Ross, vice president; Billie Tavernier, secretary; and Mary Ann Holderman, treasurer.

First on the agenda in '49 was the presentation of Parker Fennelley's drama, "Cuckoos on the Hearth", with Elaine Radecki, Mara Geier, Darwin Vance, Art Greenfield, Jim Ganser, and Jim Smelser in the main roles.

During the annual magazine drive in March, each junior attempted to be the lucky prize winner. The money raised in this drive was used to defray the expenses of the junior activities and to establish a fund for the class gift. After heated discussions concerning the possibility of obtaining class rings in the spring, it was unanimously decided to wait until September as in previous years.

The students in the classrooms prepared projects, notebooks, and daily lessons which at the time seemed unimportant. Realizing the sudden inevitable nearness of spring, and then their senior year, the social-minded juniors excitedly arranged for their prom held June 3, 1949 at the Palais Royale. As hosts to the seniors they provided a gay finale to the year.

Second Year Uncovers

A student in his second year is properly termed a sophomore. Having completed his most trying year in high school he has new opportunities to participate in the many service, honorary, and departmental clubs. Feeling more secure in their schoolwork, sophomores developed leadership and new talents by serving on various committees.

With Sponsor Margaret Moist's aid in the selection of individual courses and electives, the sophomores planned their courses of study for the remaining two years of high school.

The first signs of romance budded as the students learned to dance, began to date (some going steady) and to go to numerous parties with their various gangs.

SOPHOMORES

New Interests and Talents

Changes occurred in the physical appearances of the students; the boys grew taller, sprouted bigger ears and feet, while the girls affected more glamorous hair and dress styles. They had countless hobbies ranging from taking cars apart, roller skating and fishing to the fine arts of sewing and of constructing model airplanes. At the first of the season the "B" teams consisted largely of sophomores. Upon showing unusual talents the boys were boosted to varsity teams.

Feeling well informed on such subjects as geometry, drafting, and Spanish, the sophomores awaited their new lives as upperclassmen and further education in more difficult fields.

FRESHMEN

Greenhorn Enrollment

ALGEBRA-MINDED Ed Butts struggles with square root and equations.

To most people, especially upper-classmen, a freshman is a greenhorn, an amateur, and a bungler. Contrary to general opinion a freshman is zealous and constantly soaring to reach new qualities in refinement.

The year of 1948-1949 brought a new high in freshman enrollment. Ten junior high schools, one more than last year, sent 440 eager students to M.H.S. to exceed the number of freshmen students in previous years; 100 more new students enrolled for the second semester. From the earliest days in grade school to the final days of the eighth grade, high school was a bewildering dream, presenting the terrific problem of where to go when and how to get there with the least amount of trouble. during a rush hour, going up the wrong stairs, losing all sense of location in regard to lockers, and going to the wrong room only to be further embarrassed by finding a room full of upper classmen were woes prominent in the life of a freshman. To relieve the great discomfort of the first day, orientation meetings acquainted the new students with the building and peculiarities of life at Mishawaka High School.

After experiencing many "firsts," such as a first dance, a first assembly and a first football game, the freshmen ended their year eager to start another big year toward a final goal, graduation.

Staff Learns 3R's, Revising, Rewriting, Revamping

A small optimistic '49 Miskodeed Staff began a busy year last April, intent on publishing another All-American yearbook. Editor Clarise Smet was constantly proof reading copy, cutting meaningless words, while Rita Snyder, underclass editor, and Doris Pace, senior editor, struggled with 1300 individual pictures. Collecting faculty data and planning classroom pictures were duties of Faculty Editor Jean Smith. Sports Editor Max Thurston worked long and hard covering the unsuccessful seasons of teams when "nuff said" seemed to be sufficient copy. Group pictures and never-ending rewriting of copy were headaches for Activities Editor, Janet Eiswald; sketches and revamping of layouts were Shirley Newcomer's jobs. Secretary, Shirley Hambright, was never without typing to do while Beverly Stafford planned two subscription drives to sell 1000 books. Sherman Ostrom, accountant, and Walt Schoenegge, business manager, balanced books and kept the Miskodeed out of the red while Bob Overpeck snapped pictures of pertinent events. Sponsors, Martha Miller and Dorothy Minett, offered assistance to inexperienced yearbookies.

QUILL AND SCROLL

The Quill and Scroll Honor Society gave recognition to students for outstanding work on the Miskodeed and Alltold Staffs. Fifteen juniors and seniors, doing superior work on a publication staff and ranking in the upper one-fourth of their classes, were inducted at the April ceremony. Proud initiates were Lois Coyner, Georgia Fulp, Barbara Beutter, Beth Klein, Henry Nauts, Joan Norton, Sharon Smith, Robert Speybroeck, Elizabeth Taggart, Joyce Zimmerman, Clarise Smet, Doris Pace, Shirley Newcomer, Janet Eiswald, and Sherman Ostrom. Members initiated last year were Jean Smith, Rita Snyder, Pat Coryn, and Max Thurston.

"Who's Who and What They Do"

The Alltold Staff was ever busy, publishing the school newspaper to keep students posted on M.H. S. events. Two new features this year were a series of interviews with city officials and the lively "Who's Who and What They Do" column. Editors were engrossed in layout problems while reporters spent much time covering their respective beats. Circulation managers suffered headaches with printing press break-downs; late news and a nearly empty "dope" box haunted editors. Despite last-minute dashes to meet deadlines, the Alltold Staff, under the guidance of sponsor Leila Heimbach, published a successful newspaper and pleased subscribers with the finished product.

F. T. A. Tabulates Data for Survey

The activities and programs of the F.T.A. this year were varied and interesting. Traditional events, induction of new members, Christmas party, and spring banquet honoring departing seniors, were interspersed with new projects. Students tabulated data from questionnaires to assist the North Central Association Survey. Not to be forgotten was the club's trip to Manchester College for the regional conference. At the October meeting panel members discussed Federal Aid to Education. Informative talks concerning student teaching were presented on November 18 by Mr. Blue and Edgar Chamberlin. Other programs included Miss Sumiko Takano, South Bend exchange teacher from Hawaii, and Miss Helen Amos who spoke at a party given for Elkhart F.T.A. This year's officers were Herbert Dixon, president; Joan Callahan, vice president; Sally Fee, secretary; and Joan Norton, treasurer. The well-liked sponsor is Miss Emily Barracks.

Top Students Are Honored by N. H. S.

Thirty-six seniors are the proud members of the National Honor Society. The M.H.S. chapter first organized in 1929, honors students who fulfill the high standards of character, scholarship, leadership, and service prescribed by the national organization. The new inductees were initiated into the society by solemn and impressive services held in April and October assemblies. The panel discussion held in November acquired a serious note as members discussed the requirements and duties of all National Honor Society members. Hard working students diverted their attention from serious programs to plan their banquet on December 2. In May they again turned from their scholarly pursuits and reverted to fun and games at the farewell party honoring departing seniors. Officers for the two semesters were presidents, Virginia Goeller and Gaylor Jones; vice presidents, Walt Schoenegge and Tom Roggeman; secretaries, Joann Kirkpatrick and Jean Steffens; treasurers, Bob Sherwin and Tom Books. Mrs. Roy Kohler was the club's sponsor.

Medals Awarded Contest Winners

The field of business held the interest of the 170 members of the Commercial Club which is sponsored by Mr. Harry Hatcher. Officers for the year were president, Iris Zimmerman; vice president, Nancy Burt; secretary, Pauline Holbert; treasurer, Joan Goossens. Managing basketball concessions was a joint project with the Y-Teens. On November 18, Mr. Ferd Krueckeberg presented an illustrated talk entitled, "Building a Community." Not everything on the calendar, however, was business; in the fall, Commercial Clubbers donned blue-jeans for a Halloween party to initiate new members, and their "Sunday best" for a gay Christmas party. Dr. Elvin S. Eyster, chairman of the Business Education Department of Indiana University, spoke at the annual May banquet where results of commercial contests were announced and medals awarded. Climaxing the evening, the Ball Band presented their annual trophy to the outstanding commercial senior.

The Science Club boasted a membership this year of 120 in its three sections. The Biology Section, sponsored by Mr. Earl Stine, enjoyed a series of movies dealing with the physical and biological sciences, while other projects of the group included planting flower bulbs and operating the school green house. A field trip to the I.&M. Power Plant and a lecture by Mr. Ernest Bargmeyer on the Field of Research in Chemistry were part of the program planned by Mr. Charles Karst, sponsor of the Chemistry Section. Mr. Darl Wood, who advises the Physics Section, is also head sponsor of the Science Club. High-lighting this year's events, the club attended the Indiana Academy of Science Convention in Bloomington where Virginia Horan and Dick Miller gave an illustrated lecture on atomic energy. The general club officers were Dick Miller, president; Darwin Vance, vice president; Betty Sime, secretary-treasurer.

Square Dancing Initiated

Beginning this year, the Hi-Y participated with the Y-Teens in a series of joint meetings where together they enjoyed parties, discussions, and rollicking square dances. Hi-Y seniors sponsored their traditional election of the football queen and her court while other Hi-Yers published the programs for the Central-Mishawaka football game. In October several members took a leadership training course at Camp Eberhardt; district conferences were held in New Carlisle and Elkhart. During the Christmas rush the boys helped the Y-Teens decorate M.H.S. halls and aided the "Y" Men's Club in selling Christmas trees. At the annual Swingheart Sway held in February, Hi-Yers danced with their best girls to the tunes of Myron Walz. Senior officers who helped plan the Hi-Y program for the year were Dick Aldrich, president; Dick Baldwin, vice president; Alan DePoy, secretary; Tom Books, treasurer; Ed Partridge, chaplain; and Bud Bailey, sergeant at arms. E. R. Schalliol was head sponsor of the club and Merle Blue, senior sponsor.

Something Old, Something New

Tradition was the keynote of the Y-Teen program this year. This large organization of 325 girls staged their annual November Nocturne dance and honored new members at the Recognition Tea early in the year. Other traditional activities of the club included decorating M.H.S. halls at Christmas time and presenting the annual Pre-Easter services in March. Two freshman get-acquainted parties, joint meetings with the Hi-Y, a birthday party in March, and a tea honoring senior girls in April were new highlights on the Y-Teen agenda. At the December meeting, Mrs. L. C. Campbell reviewed the book, Up at City High; Y-Teens benefited from a hair-styling demonstration by Mr. Charles Owen on January 6. Miss Beulah Buchanan, the club's head sponsor; Mary Jane Fee, president; Norma Rogers, vice president; Shirley Davis, secretary; Catherine Vander Hayden, treasurer; Mary Ann Holderman, sergeant at arms, furthered the club's purpose, to build world fellowship.

HALL GUIDES — USHERS' CLUB

Running Errands, Directing Crowds, Showing Films . . .

Cheerful and efficient Hall Guides were always ready to serve students, teachers, and visitors. Duties of the eighty-one members included running errands, maintaining order in the halls, directing newcomers, and opening the doors for fire drills. Their program was not "all work and no play," for Hall Guides took time out for a Halloween party in the fall and a Valentine party held February 14. Miss Helen Stoddart supervised the organization with the assistance of President Roscoe Yarbrough, Vice President Martha Lou Lang, and Secretary-Treasurer Sue Santuro.

Members of the Ushers' Club, handsomely attired in maroon and white uniforms, were indispensable workers at plays, concerts, vesper services, and other programs held in the high school auditorium. The twenty-four boys learned to receive and handle crowds with ease; passing out programs and seating people was all in a day's work for the friendly members of this service organization. Edward Partridge, president, and Camiel De Meester, vice president, officiated at club meetings this year; Armin Amos sponsored the group.

MOVIE OPERATORS — STAGE CREW

. . . Service Organizations Help Behind Scenes

To assist teachers, the movie operators showed films in the classrooms. Always available, these operators aided in the visual education program by showing approximately 300 films a semester. The sixty members were required to take a special training course and pass a written test before becoming certified operators. Nineteen operators this year received special certificates after passing these rigid examinations. President Jim Johnson, Vice President Sylvester Santuro, and Secretary-Treasurer Arlene Stafford were officers for the year; Mr. Darl Wood sponsored the club.

The Stage Crew members were not afraid of hard work as proved by their willingness to work long hours during and after school to aid other organizations. Always behind the scenes of play productions, the boys demonstrated their ability as electricians, curtain pullers, furniture movers, and general handy men. These capable back-stage workers maintained stage properties and equipment for pep meetings and other assembly programs. Mr. Everett Welsh supervised this small service club of twelve boys.

To further their interest in world affairs, twenty-five students and Sponsor Ward Baker organized the United Nations Youth Club – a rejuvenation of the old Forum Club. At one of the first meetings of the new club, Mr. Merle Blue spoke on "The United Nations," showing slides and pictures of his trip to the United Nations at Lake Success, New York. On November 22, Barbara Beutter and Virginia Goeller gave an original dramatic presentation of the organization of the United Nations. An outstanding program in February was Edward R. Murrow's recordings entitled "I Can Hear It Now," a chronicle of the war and years of crisis (1933-1945). Officers for the year were president, Gaylor Jones; vice president, Dick Miller; secretary, Virginia Goeller; treasurer, Sherman Ostrom; program chairman, Herbert Dixon; and sergeant at arms, Chuck Golba.

Chalk Drawing and Chip Carving Interest Amateur Artists

Many signs and banners seen around school this year were the products of the art department, for art students and club members continually made posters in their spare time. Other projects included painting, chalk drawing, and portrait work. Members also studied pen and ink technique, made clay models, and did chip carving. At the March meeting, the club made a life mask out of plaster using a real model. Artistic students made photograms with articles arranged to form an abstract design; ink studies made on scratch board were especially attractive. Miss Lorena Phemister was the new sponsor of the club and President Helen Klopfenstein, Vice President Nancy Hyatte, Secretary Sharon Smith, and Treasurer Edward Gindelberger were officers.

Movie-Goers Bring White Elephants for Props Room

Organized in 1942, the National Thespian Troup 496 gave recognition to students who excelled in dramatics. Dear Ruth, a three-act comedy given by the club in November, amused a large audience. At a solemn induction ceremony in December, ten new Thespians were initiated. Members brought white elephant articles for the club's new props room as admission to the movie of As You Like It on January 27. The club traveled to Chicago to see the stage play, Finian's Rainbow, in March. Thespians co-sponsored with the Speech Club an assembly program at which the Conservation Players of New York presented The Importance of Being Earnest. Speech Clubbers traditionally entertained senior Thespians at the May banquet. SPEECH CLUB

Talented Members Entertain Club

The Speech Club promoted interest and participation in speech activities at high school. Prospective members gave interpretations of plays or readings and were admitted on the merits of their performances, filling the club's membership quota of sixty. In November the Speech Club co-sponsored with the Thespians the three-act play, Dear Ruth. Gloating seniors watched while underclass members worked long and hard planning the May banquet. Several Speech Clubbers displayed their talents on the stage to delight members at the Christmas party. Sponsor Emily K. DEAR RUTH

Dear Ruth, Norman Krasnas' two-act comedy, was the outstanding performance presented by the Thespians and Speech Club on November 18-19. Miss Emily K. Davidson directed the production with the assistance of Student Director Eva Shapiro. The action took place in the living room of the Wilkins' home in Kew Gardens, Long Island, N.Y., and revolved around the charming Ruth Wilkins, played by Jackie Spear, and her young sister Miriam, acted by Pat Hartman and Barbara Beutter on successive nights. Gaylor Jones was cast as the clever father, Judge Harry Wilkins, while Elaine Radecki portrayed Mrs. Wilkins. Sherman Ostrom interpreted the part of Ruth's 4-F boyfriend Albert, and Chuck Golba starred as the handsome Lieut. Bill Seawright. Other members of the cast included Joan Callahan and Virginia Goeller as Martha Seawright, Dick Miller as Sergeant Chuck Vincent, Carl Gunderson as the sailor, and Jackie Baugher as Dora, the maid.

COMPLICATIONS are inevitable when Lieut. Seawright arrives at the Wilkins' home unexpectedly, and the family discovers that Ruth's problem sister Miriam has been writing scores of love letters to the lieutenant signing Ruth's name.

DEBATE

Pros and Cons of United Nations

From September through April the debate squad delved into research books in the library to set up their cases. Mr. Douglas Hall coached the members of the varsity squad, who were Virginia Goeller, Mary Ann Holderman, Virginia Horan, and Arthur Greenfield. The topic for this year was: Resolved, that the United Nations should be revised into a federal world government. Besides debating teams from Central, Knox, LaPorte, Nappanee, Riley, Adams, and Madison, the debaters participated in an extemporaneous speech contest. As a finale to the year, Mr. Hall announced the award winner at the traditional banquet in May.

ENGINEERING CLUB

School Opens Shops for Hobbies

The Engineering Club's aim was to keep in touch with the industrial, mechanical, and scientific world. Every two weeks the school opened all shops in the vocational department for members to work on their various hobbies. While some of the boys motorized airplanes and made race cars, in the machine shop and drafting room others made tools or worked on classroom projects. Repairing radios and making lamps and casting rods occupied boys in electric and wood shops. Officers for the year were president, Keith Fulmer; vice president, Jim Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Phil Swadener. Mr. R. W. Warring and Mr. John Farney were sponsors.

The Junior Red Cross continued its effort to promote friendship and better understanding between people in our own and other lands. In December sponsor room representatives packed gift boxes, a project undertaken every year by the club. Several members received letters from the grateful recipients. As a service to the Red Cross headquarters in New York, the organization translated nearly 100 Polish letters. Especially active members were Barbara Beutter, president, Helen Klopfenstein, secretary, and Irene McCallum, treasurer. The Misses Lorraine Ulrey and Rebecca Kabel were sponsors.

C♯ MINOR CLUB

Club Grows from Ten to Fifty Members in Two Years

The C♯ Minor Music Club, organized just two years ago with ten charter members, now boasts a membership of fifty. To further their interest in good music, these students are required to attend two public concerts per year. At the club's October meeting members saw Electronics in Music, a movie about the National Music Camp in Interlocken, Michigan. In April Mr. Robert Scott spoke and sang several musical selections for the group. Seniors performed at the traditional music recital held in May. Advisor Madolin Hackett headed the club; officers were Joan Callahan, president; Joan Norton, vice-president; Patsy Hunt, secretary; Arthur Hills, treasurer.

BAND

New Merit System Inaugurated

The M.H.S. Band under the direction of Mr. Walter E. Bowers spent every third hour in persistent practice on marching, drills, and band numbers. To cheer our school to athletic victories, these energetic musicians performed at games and pep sessions. The versatile band members also played at the Memorial Day parade, Open House, and at the Spring Musicale. At the winter concert, the band sported their snappy new maroon and gray uniforms for the first time on stage. A concert featuring Star Dust, Three Trumpeters, and Auditorium Session pleased the students at an April assembly program. A new merit system inaugurated this year determined each member's eligibility on the basis of the 100 point requirement. Officers for the year were Bob Tomlinson, president; Jackie Foerster, vice president; Georgia Fulp, secretary; Roberta Smith, Marlene Shaw, Nancy Hughes, librarians.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

Blue Look Is New Look

The lovely and impressive Christmas vesper service thrilled an audience which over-flowed the high school auditorium on the Sunday afternoon and the Monday evening before Christmas. The A Capella Choir spent weeks in preparation, under the expert direction of Miss Lucine Jones, to proclaim the Christmas message in song with the colorful living pictures of famous paintings in the background. The beautiful rose window, familiar carols, and Mozart's "Alleluia," sung by the girls in the choir and a supplementary chorus of 30 girls from the glee club, resulted in a program which attained wide attention in this area. Fast becoming a tradition is the vocal assembly presented for the students; on March 15 the Choir and Cecilians entertained their audience with a combination of serious and light program numbers. The Choir also appeared with the Band and Orchestra at the annual Spring Musicale. Choir members were especially proud this year of their newly purchased royal blue robes with white stoles.

The Mishawaka High School Orchestra presented its winter concert on January 21 under the direction of Miss Madolin Hackett. At an assembly program three days later they gave a repeat performance of this annual event to the students. The orchestra combined with the choir, glee clubs, and band to present the Spring Musicale held yearly in the high school gym. Between the acts at plays and at National Honor Society inductions, the Theater Orchestra provided appropriate music. Seniors played with the orchestra for the last time at Commencement exercises in June.

Students Support Losing Squad

Some might have said, "All was lost," (see schedule) but others might have said, "Seek and you shall find" the memorable things which were written into the football annals this past season.

As a unique sendoff for the 1948 season, the townspeople, students, players, and coaches assembled to hear the rousing words of pepper-upper DeLoss Walker from Chicago. Following a pep meeting around a bonfire, the students snake-danced to the center of town. In the games which followed, the team never lacked student support despite the poor season.

In the first game with Hammond the eyes of the fans were focused upon both the team and the new coaches, Earl Hoker and Garnett DeBaun. Veteran halfback Dick Miller romped through the enemy lines nine yards per carry for the outstanding performance in that encounter. Numerous times throughout the season Miller electrified the crowds with long kickoff and punt returns. For his brilliant performances the South Bend Tribune sports writers selected him a member of the Twin-City team.

The spotlight was focused on Gerry Manuel in the Elkhart contest as he completed seven of his ten tosses; one to Fred Baker resulted in the only Maroon touchdown of the evening.

Tom Roggeman, an outstanding lineman in all games, received the distinction of being named to the Twin-City and All-conference squads. His teammates showed their esteem for him by voting him the most valuable player award. The team also elected Roggeman and Miller co-captains for the season.

Four Wins Climax Season

A bad beginning, a good ending. That was the story of the Maroon "B" squad under new coach George Wilson. After opening with two losses and a tie, the season came to a climax with four straight wins, one over Washington, revenging an earlier defeat by them. The other victories were over LaPorte, Elkhart, and Goshen.

Freshmen Blank Three Opponents

Displaying offensive power and defensive strength, Coach Farney's frosh team easily defeated most of their opposition to win four of six games. The freshmen blanked the enemy in three of their four victories. The Cavemen gained vengeance for an early season defeat by LaPorte with a 22-0 win in the final game of the year.

Maroons Defeat Central

For the first time in nine years the Mishawaka Cavemen snared a share of the conference championship. The Maroons divided the crown with Central, whom they defeated in two of three contests.

Practice for Vic Wukovits' tall cagers began early in October in preparation for the rugged season ahead. When the Maroons opened their season against Muncie Burris, they were just rounding into shape. The Owls, with three games already under their belts, handed the Cavemen basketeers a close defeat, 39-38. This loss constituted the only Mishawaka reversal on the home court during the season.

In the ensuing two contests, Mishawaka had little trouble disposing of Plymouth and Lew Wallace of Gary. Neal Tracy harrassed the Wallace boys with his overhead shots as he pushed in seven goals in the first half.

In the Maroons' first collision with Central, a non-conference affair, Mishawaka jumped off to an early lead, then nearly wilted under the fourth quarter pyrotechnics of the never-say-die Bears. When his two gigantic buddies fouled out, the job of dominating the banks fell upon 6 feet 5 inch Dick Freeman; he responded by controlling most of the rebounds. The Vicmen staved off the rally, winning 44-42.

On December 10 the Mishawakans met the Goshen Redskins in a sluggish game. The smaller Redskins stalled the entire game, but were unsuccessful in their endeavor to defeat the Maroons.

For three quarters the Riley Wildcats gave the Maroons a scare as they held the Cavemen to a precarious four point margin. In the fourth period, however, the Mishawaka netmen exploded for twenty-three points to win a comfortable victory. It was the substitutes' night to shine as Ed Clark and Harold Coffman whipped eleven and nine points through the hoop to subdue the Cats.

During Christmas vacation the Mishawaka skylarks engaged the North Side quintet on the Ft. Wayne floor. With Neal Tracy leading the attack, the Maroons won their third straight, and most important, conference encounter thus far. On New Year's Day the Cavemen met the strong Ft. Wayne Central Tigers in a holiday tournament game and squeezed past them 45-44. In the championship game the North Siders avenged a previous Caveman defeat by winning 43-28.

It took an unbelievable rally in the last minute for the Maroons to capture the Adams contest. Led by spark plug, Wally Vernasco, the Mishawaka five scored eight points in the final minute of play to tie

in Two of Three Contests

the ball game. Vernasco plunked in two free throws which knotted the count with only three seconds to go. The Maroons outscored the Eagles by six points in the overtime to win 56-50.

Mishawaka continued on its merry path to the championship by downing the Elkhart Blue Blazers on January 14. The following night a well-schooled South Side Ft. Wayne squad upended the Cavemen 39-32 in a non-conference affair.

Vic's boys encountered a fighting LaPorte team in their next conference tilt. Leading 27-19 at the end of the third quarter, the Cavemen had a lapse of memory and woke up on the short end of a 32-29 score. This loss was the Maroons' first and only defeat in conference play and set the stage for the battle with Central the following Thursday.

The day before the momentous Central game reserve forward Ed Clark suffered a compound fracture of the right leg. The Maroons were an inspired ball club as they took the floor to win for him. Six Maroons looped in seven or more points apiece as Mishawaka defeated the Bruins 53-46. This win put the Cavemen in a tie for the conference lead.

Two days later the Maroons met highly touted Auburn. Mishawaka, led by John Benjamin, jumped off to an early lead and held it throughout the game winning 51-45. The Red Devils lost their first game of the year. Mishawaka easily disposed of the Michigan City team, but Froebel of Gary overpowered them the next night.

Only one game stood between the tall Maroons and a sure tie for the conference title. The Mishawakans, however, ran into an inspired Panther squad who battled the Cavemen vigorously from start to finish. The game was in doubt until the final twenty seconds, when Neal Tracy scooped up a loose ball and tucked it in for a tie-breaking counter. Freeman and Tracy with 19 and 18 points were high for the Cavemen.

In the Culver encounter, the Mishawaka boys hit from all angles as they scalped the Indians 74-55. The Cavemen trailed in the first three stanzas of the Winamac contest but won, 40-34.

The luck of the tournament drawing pitted the two sectional favorites, Mishawaka and Central, against each other in the first round. At one time the Maroons held a ten point advantage but the Bears whittled it down to three with one minute remaining. Andy Toth turned joy to grief for hysterical Mishawaka fans as he scored the winning basket for Central in the last five seconds.

Cavemen Win Coveted

An experienced track squad coached by John Farney put in some hard pre-season training to develop into 1948 sectional champions.

For the first time since 1944 Mishawakans triumphed in the sectional meet. The Caveman mile relay team, although it clipped two seconds off the standing sectional record, was beaten by inches. The half-mile relay team, composed of Joe Vernasco, Kenny Feather, Stanley Ross, and Dick Dennison, set a new sectional record of 1:33.5 to take top honors. This same relay team finished third in the state meet a week later.

Mishawaka ranked high in the other important meets, placing fourth among such tough competition as Froebel and Roosevelt of Gary at the Goshen Relays. In the Eastern division meet, spirited Maroons ran second behind a highly regarded Fort Wayne North squad. Dennison in the low hurdles and Feather in the 220 yard dash were barely beaten in record breaking times. The half-mile relayers ran away from the field, winning by ten yards. Many records were tied or broken in the conference finals held in Mishawaka, one of the outstanding high school meets of the year. The new record breaking times proved too much for Maroon runners, who finished sixth in the meet. Cavemen relay teams placed third and fourth in their races, even though they ran their best times of the season.

Opening the season with indoor meets at Notre Dame the Mishawaka aggregation finished third and second place in the two meets. Milt Ross, vaulting 11 feet 3 inches, and the half mile relay team, running 1:37.4, set new Eastern Division indoor records.

In three dual meets the Cavemen easily surpassed the opposition. The trackmen swamped a weak Goshen team 93-16, then continued their winning ways to score 67½ to 32½ over John Adams and 71-38 over a strong Hammond Tech Squad.

The trackmen elected Dennison and Vernasco co-captains; Feather was given the Walter "Dutch" Thurston award for the most valuable track and field man.

Batsmen Badly Battered

Swamped by a deluge of opponents' runs, the 1948 Maroon swatters struggled through another strenuous season to win only three of twelve games.

A strong Red Imp team spoiled the conference opener for the Cavemen by defeating them 7-5. Despite the three-base hits of Kollar, Hocker, and Moore, the Cavemen lost an extra-inning affair to Riley's Wildcats 8-7. Washington soundly thrashed the Mishawaka club 16-1 in the next conference game.

Mishawaka hit its stride to snatch its only league win in a close 3-2 victory over John Adams. In the next two games LaPorte and Central pitchers threw successive shutouts against the Mishawakans. At the Riley game, although Nichols and Kollar each swatted a homer, "Bake's" boys returned on the short end of a 11-4 score. Elkhart then closed out a disastrous season for the Maroons by winning a 6-3 decision over the Cavemen nine.

Harriers Capture Conference Title

Riding the crest of twenty-eight consecutive dual victories, the Mishawaka cross-country team swept past all northern opposition to capture the conference title, the sectional championship, and second place in the state meet.

Seasoned Maroon harriers inaugurated the season for their new mentor, Francis Hill, with smashing victories over Goshen and Riley of South Bend in a triangular meet.

The Hillmen encountered their stiffest competition in a meet between the Blue Blazers of Elkhart and the Adams Eagles. A well-balanced Maroon squad narrowly averted defeat by the Blazers, winning 26-30, but Adams offered little opposition as they fell to the spirited Mishawaka distance men 19-40. Central of South Bend, LaPorte, Washington, and North Side Ft. Wayne fell in quick succession before the onslaught of the powerful Cavemen.

Led by Don Wood, Lawrence Healy, Ed Partridge, and Stan Ross, the cross-countrymen won the N.I.H.S.C. title. The Mishawakans, in order to qualify their team for the state finals, had to compete with all teams entered in the sectional meet. The Maroons easily accomplished the feat, winning by 42 points over their nearest competitor, LaPorte. In the state meet the Anderson Indians, led by John Stayton, outran the Cavemen and won the meet for the third straight year.

Two and three year veterans who will be graduating include Co-captains Lawrence Healy and Don Wood, Ralfe Kaiser, Ed Partridge, Jim Lang, Bill Butts, Stan Ross, Roy Catanzarite, and Chuck Golba.

Linksmen Avenge LaPorte Defeat

DESPITE ED CLARK'S body English the ball just doesn't want to drop into the cup.

Mishawaka linksmen met a limited number of opponents in the fall of 1948. Because of a change in the conference schedule from fall to spring, the South Bend schools did not play golf.

Six lettermen, playing their first match under the tutelage of Vic Wukovits, lost to a strong LaPorte team. When the Cavemen golfers returned the visit to LaPorte, they evened the score by winning 9½-8½. This score was identical to the one by which LaPorte had earlier defeated the Maroons.

In a closely contested match with Valparaiso the Vicmen battled their way into a 6-6 draw. Two contests with Michigan City followed, Mishawaka easily taking both decisions 11½-½ and 12-0. In the latter contest sophomore John Mullin scored a sparkling 72 two under par.

Featured ventures in the spring included the regular conference schedule, the Mishawaka Invitational Meet, and the state meet.

Racqueteers Bring Home Laurels

Hard work and plenty of it paid off when the tennis team came home with N.I.H.S.C. championship for the first time since 1939 and ended the season undefeated.

After beating South Bend Central to win the Eastern Division conference championship on October 14, the Cavemen whitewashed the Hammond squad (winners of the Western Division) by a score of 5-0. The team had disposed of Michigan City, LaPorte, Elkhart, Riley, Adams, Goshen, and South Bend Central in short order to gain the championship laurels. These victories, coupled with two last spring and the Hammond match, extended the racqueteers' winning streak to ten straight.

Jack Frayman took the scoring honors, winning all of his singles matches. The team elected the only senior on the varsity, Alan DePoy, captain. Sweaters were awarded to Herbert Dixon, Jack Frayman, and Jim Orlosky. Having won his sweater last season, Alan DePoy received a letter.

Maulers Defeat Polecats

During the basketball season the physical education department offered an intramural hardwood program to any boy or girl attending the high school. Four nights a week students played basketball for the fun of it and learned the whys and wherefores of the sport.

Wednesday nights the eight teams of the junior-senior league vied for championship laurels under the direction of Mr. John Farney. On March 1 the Maulers defeated the Polecats for the league title, 49-20. The Dribblers finished third; the Buccaneers, fourth; and the Timid Souls, Foul Outs, All Stars, and Shmoos, in the second division.

There was a three way tie for the leadership of the sophomore league among the Rounders, Mudhens, and Pistons. Under Coach Vic Wukovits each of these quintets won three contests while losing one. Other squads in this loop, the Minutemen, Whirlwinds, and the Netrippers, were evenly matched in their Tuesday encounters.

In the freshman circuit on Monday evenings the Blazers, led by Jim Boomhower, became the tourney champs when they defeated Tony Catanzarite's Kings by a 26 to 19 score. Other frosh fives were the Shmoos, Grave Diggers, Cyclones, DeAmicas, Globe Trotters, and Stags. The first year men with Mr. Garnett DeBaun at the helm produced some high scoring games and keen competition in their tournament.

Thursday the supposedly weaker sex, six girls' teams, competed for honors in the roundball sport under the direction of Miss Martha Cornick. Senior and junior teams captured the greater portion of all the tournaments and practice games played during the season.

Float Wins Cider and Donuts

An active year ended when the members of the Girls' Athletic Association attended an award banquet at which time numerals, letters, and plaques were presented.

The girls who earned 350 points received the coveted plaques, highest possible G.A.A. honor.

Team loyalty is the highest ambition of each member. The G.A.A. girls learn to feel that the outcome of the game is not as important as playing the game in a sportsmanlike manner.

The club was proud of the first prize it won in the pep parade before the Central football game, their float prophesying "Central doesn't have a ghost of a chance." After receiving the prize which consisted of donuts, cider, and candy donated by local merchants, the G.A.A. held a buffet supper at the Beutter farm.

The regular meetings were held the fourth period each Monday and Wednesday; play nights, each Thursday night. The 68 members participated in a varied program this year including speedball, volleyball, badminton, and soccer in the fall; basketball, tumbling, trampoline work, and bowling in the winter months; and archery, softball, and track events in the spring season. To further the girls' athletic program, soccer, trampoline work, bowling, and archery were initiated this year. In the spring these energetic athletes enjoyed a picnic-hike followed by softball, archery, and horseshoe pitching.
